

Name _____

The Iron Road

Think of a person whose life would have been changed by the railway. Write a story about it from their point of view. Illustrate your story.

A large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners and a thin black border, intended for a student to draw an illustration related to their story.

S Writing a narrative account